Single Copy—FIVE CENTS

SCHOOL LUNCH SET-UP EXPLAINED BY P. T. A.

It has been brought to the attention of the PTA officers that some townspeople are under the impression that the State is now financing our Hot Lunch program. This is not so. We will be reimbursed at the rate of four cents per meal (just as we were last year) but this money is Federal Aid issued through the State Dept. of Education. This year, because of a bill passed by the legislature, there are no funds available for equipment such as we were fortunate to get last spring. You will recall we were allotted $73.25 with which we purchased some of the most essential cooking utensils for a program such as ours.

Perhaps a brief summary of our last year's receipts and expenditures would help to clarify how our program is run and financed. This is for the period Jan. 8—March 21st inclusive.

Receipts:
Lunch Payments	$216.90
U.S.D.A. claim	196.20
Local donations	172.71
Total	$585.81
Expenditures:
Food	$309.27
Labor	127.20
Transportation, etc.	445.02
Total	$481.49
Balance	$104.32

One can readily see that without the local donations or the Federal Aid that we would be very much in the red. The lunch payments means the sum of the five cents paid daily by those students who can pay this sum. It should be realized, however, that those who cannot pay this SHOULD STILL HAVE THE HOT LUNCH. The aim of the State is for each and every child to have the lunch regardless of their ability to pay the daily fee. The USDA claim is that amount reimbursed us by Federal Aid and handled by the State Dept. of Education. Local donations include those from clubs, friends and the very generous donations of the business men. Labor is of course the cook's salary and transportation is the expense of carrying the food to the two schools. This also includes express charges on some surplus foods that were sent us.

Our program is growing by leaps and bounds and daily getting to be more of a problem financially, because of lack of room and facilities, and the ever growing number. The average daily count last year was 99, the largest day being 112. The first day this year it was 120, then 136 and so on.

We are very fortunate to have found an excellent cook again this year but naturally, because of the larger number have had to raise the cook's salary, for this same reason the food bill will be higher (also because of the increased prices of foodstuffs).

We wonder how much longer we can continue to serve lunches under the present conditions. How much longer can we find a cook that can handle the ever growing number to cook for. It really is quite a task to handle so much food in the average person's kitchen and on the average stove. We understand there is an empty room in the Primary school basement that perhaps at small expense could be outfitted with some type of stove, a sink, table and benches could be made, some dishes purchased in which to serve the food and Bethel then would be well started on a modern school lunch room. We feel sure that if the school board and town would approve, that our members with the aid of the townspeople could make this dream a reality. Can we depend on you?

The next Parent-Teacher-Association meeting will be held at the Primary school on Tuesday evening, January 21, at 8 o'clock. The guest speaker of the evening will be Harland P. Ladd, State Commissioner of Education, from Augusta. Hostesses will be Mrs. Alice Taylor, Mrs. Pat Murphy and Mrs. Thelma Galvin.

Looking forward to the future, as well as the present expense that we are under, the Finance Committee has planned a series of events to raise money. The January project will be a food sale at Brooks' hardware store on Jan. 24 at 2 p.m. We hope you will all come and help us as we feel this is a most worthwhile cause as it benefits our youngsters.

FOSDICK SPEAKER AT ANNUAL PUBLICITY MEETING

U S Representative Frank F. Fols of Bangor and Douglas F. They will speak at the annual dinner at 7 p.m.

Representative Fols recently announced his candidacy for the Republican renomination in the Third District, after having declined to run for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He is now serving his third term in Congress. Mr. Fols is publisher of one of Maine's leading weekly newspapers and has been prominent in the Maine Press Association and other Maine newspaper organizations. He is president of the Rumford Chamber of Commerce and has attracted wide attention through the clarity of progressiveness of his editorial policy. An ardent booster for Maine, he received his early newspaper training with the Associated Press.

Following the annual business session of the Publicity Bureau at 2 p.m., the organization staff will present a program entitled "More Business for Maine." This will be an illustrated exposition of the selling techniques and activities of the Bureau. Guy P. Butler, executive manager of the Bureau, will conduct the program.

NEWRY'S OLDEST CITIZEN DIES AT LIFE-LONG HOME

The death of Frank C. Bennett occurred at his life-long home in North Newry on January 2. February 18 this year would have marked his ninety-second birthday.

He was the only surviving member of the family of Jonathan and Lysana Lary Bennett, who resided at the well-known Bennett farm in Newry.

Mr. Bennett was married fifty-seven years ago to Amy Vall who survives him. To them were born six children: Harold of Portland; Mrs. Alice Tripp of North Newry; Christie of Bethel; Mrs. Marie Turbide of Rumford; Nora who died in early womanhood; and Roy who resides at the old home in Newry.

Mr. Bennett had been in poor health for several years and during long periods of patient suffering he was tenderly cared for by his devoted wife.

Until about two weeks before his death, his mind was keen and alert and a visit with him was always interesting as he chatted in a reminiscent mood on the people and customs of early days.

Mr. Bennett is remembered as a kind neighbor. Many a night in bygone years he spent at the bedside of a sick neighbor.

He was always interested in farm animals, especially cattle. He was often called upon by the farmers in his community to minister to the ills of their stock.

Such neighborliness as Mr. Bennett practiced is almost unknown today but rural communities might do well to revive some of the neighborhood customs which characterized Mr. Bennett's years of activity.

Funeral services were held at the North Newry Church conducted by Rev. Ernest Sahlin of the Umbagog Larger Parish. The large attendance of relatives and friends and the profusion of beautiful flowers gave testimony to the love and respect in which this aged man was held.

Interment was in the North Newry cemetery.

GOULD BASKETEERS PLAY AT PARIS AND MEXICO

Gould Academy's basketball teams will be playing away from home in the next two engagements. This Friday Coach Anderson will take his varsity to South Paris. The Gould-Paris game will be part of a double-header at the Norway Armory where Norway High will oppose Fryeburg Academy in the other end of the twin bill.

Next Tuesday both the Varsity and J.V. teams will play return games with the Mexico teams. The Pintos have been showing some real class in the past week with a 40-33 victory over South Paris and an upset triumph over the powerful veteran Jay team regarded as one of the better Class "B" teams in the state. This is regarded by Gould as the toughest task confronting them this season. The Pintos are a tough outfit to defeat on their own floor as Gould has repeatedly found. It should be a thriller worth seeing.

CHANGE VISITING HOURS AT TOGUS VETERANS' HOSPITAL

Announcement of the following revised hospital visiting hours at the Veterans Administration Center, Togus, Maine, was made recently by Richard E. Fortier, Officer in Charge of the Veterans Administration Office, Lewiston: General Medical Hospital; Monday through Saturday—2 p.m. to 4 p.m.; 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Sundays and holidays—2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Neuropsychiatric Hospital; Sundays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and holidays—2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Not more than TWO visitors will be permitted to see any patient in the Neuropsychiatric Hospital at any one time. Children under 16 years of age are not permitted on wards in the latter hospital.

Fortier stated that the revision eliminates morning visiting hours formerly permitted in the General Medical and Surgical Hospital on Sundays and holidays. This action was necessary because the morning visiting hours were interfering with necessary patient treatments. It was stressed, however, that established visiting hours and the limitations of two visitors per patient do NOT apply to the RELATIVES of seriously ill patients who may visit at any time during the period of serious illness.

GOULD TEAMS WIN OVER NORWAY

In a fast and furious game the Gould varsity came from behind in the second half to win 44-34 for their fourth straight victory. Norway started fast and had Gould 6-2 before the locals got going but before the first period was over Davis connected for three and Bennett, Young, and Wood came through with one each to put Gould out front 14-8 after the first stanza.

In the second period the Huskies blew sky high as Norway rang up 13 points to Gould's 5 and led 21 to 19 at the half.

In the last half Gould scored early to tie the score and then again to lead, where they stayed the remainder of the game. Jerry Davis led the scoring with 18 while Bennett connected in double figures for 11. Wood and Foster were great on the boards while the relief work of Hamilton was outstanding.

Wiley, the high scoring Norway center, was held to 9 points. Belanger, freshman forward for the visitors also scored 9.

Led by Hamilton with 16 points and Lowell with 9 the J.V.'s won their third straight victory. They also came from behind as the Norway J.V.'s led 13-10 at half time. Final score was 41-29.

Foreign Aid and Its Effects

An understanding of human nature will tell us that when we stop giving aid to European nations, most of the countries there will become angry at us. The more aid you give to an individual and the longer you give it, the more disgruntled he becomes when you stop. This seems to be true of nations. Naturally, now that we have hinted at a little less liberality toward Europe, some have yelled "selfish" and "unsympathetic" at us.

The more we give and the longer we give it, the greater will grow this scorn toward the giver. When finally we have to stop the flow of our money toward Europe, anger will be the reaction. That was true after World War I. America had been very liberal, but when aid was halted, up went the tariff barriers. England campaigned "Buy Within the Empire." Depression followed.

What Result?
Following World War II, America again has been extremely liberal. We have spent some 10 billion dollars during each of the past two years. Help we gave to England during the war and since will total nearly 40 billion dollars. We have not been stingy with our food, our goods, nor our dollars, although this drain on our resources has helped to make things tougher for the average American breadwinner.

All the Lend Lease, all the UNRRA relief, all the goods, all the dollars—what are the results? England is not even on her feet, much less Europe. The crises seem to mount, with England right now facing her greatest crisis since the war. All of these facts must lead us to re-examine our aid to Europe and the possible effect of continuing handouts to so many outstretched palms.

Europe's Problem
Obviously we cannot keep on giving at the rate of 10 billion dollars a year to Europe for the next ten years, or the next twenty. Then what can we do? It is plain common sense that the best thing we can do is to help Europe figure out how she can help herself. We must help Europe to get up on her own feet and off the backs of American taxpayers. That is the only kind of aid that will ever be worth much to Europe.

The answer we get Europe to think in terms of helping herself, the better it will be for all of us. We might send her food and money till she is dead, but it would only make Europe a beggar and would not make her a self-sufficient nation. Europe must understand that the problem of rebuilding is her own problem, first of all, and not entirely ours. We must try to re-educate Europe in the principles of American enterprise and initiative. Hard work and self-dependence are among those first principles.

Europe needs production. We can supply machinery on the basis that it may be paid for with goods produced. We can keep down our trade barriers and buy from Europe. Only that way can these nations get on their feet and buy from us. There are definite ways to help war-torn Europe without imposing the serious charge of outstretched palms. The answer can help get on this road. The better it is, the better it is for everybody.

IS CHRISTIANITY PRACTICAL?

by DR. ALBERT P. HAARE

ALBERT P. HAARE, Affiliated P. Haare, State Mayor of Park Ridge, Illinois, is a noted economist, social economist, lecturer and author.

I write this as a Christian man who has sought the answers to our national and international problems in the fields of economics, politics and sociology, and found them less than enough. I have had to turn to religion for truths through which we can secure the self-control by individuals necessary to peace and prosperity under freedom.

This article will deal with the broader aspect of the problem. In a later writing I hope to bring you the argument for the individual.

I am aware that the Constitution of the United States, in guaranteeing freedom of religion to all its citizens, must forever keep strictly separate from the state. This was clearly the intent of the Framing Fathers and their intent should be respected. But, it is still time, to be a good American, each of us must recognize certain basic Christian principles which are essential to the Constitution.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

WANTS PRISONERS TO SUPPORT THEIR FAMILIES

A LETTER from George T. Amman, New York City, asks if the late Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y., was the first man to advocate prison reform.

D. Carnegie

Well, no, Mr. Amman, Warden Lewis E. Lawes, formerly of Sing Sing, was not the first. He did a great deal during his stay at Sing Sing, to reform the treatment of prisoners, but he wasn't first by any means. However, no big movement ever got more acclaim than did prison reform through the efforts of Warden Lawes.

I recall visiting Sing Sing prison shortly after one important change went into effect—of giving the prisoners decent cells in which to be confined. In the place of the dirty, dark, unsanitary holes that they had formerly been confined to. Having first seen the healthier conditions under which the prisoners were living, and then comparing them to those of the old regime, I received quite a shock. Warden Lawes operated on the theory that the punishment for the men was confinement. He claimed that no judge ever, in passing sentence, decreed that they should be further punished by being forced to live under such conditions as would impair their health.

But to go back to the probably first advocate for prison reform. The first record we have of any man trying to put through a bill for human treatment of prisoners was that of an Englishman, a High Sheriff, named John Howard. (By High Sheriff is meant that he was not living at the prison and operating as a sheriff, but that he was a visiting Sheriff, a sort of Superintendent.) John Howard knew that many of the men who were there for crime were no worse than many other walking the streets of England who had not been caught in their misdeeds or crimes. He knew, too, that lack of ventilation, inadequate water supply, and practically no plumbing, facilities was the cause of the typhus fever which was not only running riot within the prison walls, but which was in addition spreading to the surrounding country.

In 1774 John Howard presented a report to the English Parliament and a certain degree of reform resulted. Of course, he had opposition. The law makers, the prison authorities, and the general public felt that these people within the prison walls had sinned against society and that there should be no drain on the public funds to provide them with comfort, nor even sanitation.

Let's hope that this interest in prisoners goes even further, and that some day there will be a plan followed consistently in every prison in the land, providing work for these people, an allowing them to send their earnings to their families. It would not only lift some of the burden from the public purse, but it would give these men the right sort of men, a feeling of self respect to be allowed to shoulder their own responsibilities.

First: The Founding Fathers accepted God as creator and ruler of the universe, the source of all good, whose moral code as presented in the Ten Commandments is the foundation of our system of law and order.

Second: Freedom is an attribute inherent in man, in consequence of the creation in the image of God. That freedom can be neither created nor destroyed by the individual, nor removed by the state except with the consent of the individual. It comes to each of us with birth and goes with each of us into the grave.

Third: The freedom from God involves man with stewardship for all that is his and with responsibility directly to God for the way in which he uses his freedom and discharges his stewardship.

Fourth: Freedom means the right of the individual to choose, the right to hold private property and to enter into private and individual contracts with other individuals, within what limits are necessary to safeguard the similar action of other individuals.

Fifth: The State exists only to preserve the rights and freedoms and encourage performance of duties of individual citizens by maintaining certain conditions of law and order under which freedom can be exercised safely and in tranquility.

Thinking Is Too Difficult

AND even today those who really control and order their thoughts are but a small minority of mankind. Most of the world still lives by imagination and passion. From H. G. Wells' Pocket History of the World.

Practically every day, for the last month or two, the world has been regaled with stories of bloody strikes in France and Italy. These strikes are openly and avowedly caused by the Communist parties of those countries for the sole purpose of disrupting the national economy that the people, in desperation, will succumb to the brutal ideology of slavery by which these creatures hope to pull themselves from the gutter to mastery over their fellow countrymen.

This writer has just received a long, poignant letter from France expatiating upon the added misery which the strikers have brought to their own country. "No wonder," the letter says—"that so many French people are committing suicide. The struggle to live is almost too great to cope with." The same condition exists in Italy also.

But Latins are not Slavs! And the Latin reaction to rough treatment is not particularly noted for gentleness. Today they feel a bit down and out, or they would not stand by and permit their internal enemies and potential destroyers to openly attempt to starve them into submission by strikes and by opposition to the help, which the United States—under the Marshall Plan—is trying to give them. When will the worm turn?

Why do thinking people allow these creatures to exist among them? Why do the freedom loving French and the Independent Italians permit their enemies to harry them? Why do we Americans allow these fiends to carry on in our country to its detriment and—conceivably—to its destruction? The answer is simple: The people won't bother to communicate with their legislators and instruct them to adopt stern measures with these dangerous enemies. And the reason the people take no action is because one must think a little to compose a letter, and thinking requires too much effort. So by allowing Stalin, Molotov et al to do all the thinking, we avoid the mental effort required to foresee the ghastly results. They become obvious.

History has demonstrated that nations thrive and grow strong as they develop individual citizens. National strength is the fruition and culmination of individual strength. Law and order in tranquility and without loss of individual freedom and strength can be maintained only as the personal ethics of individual citizens call for and support the laws of the state. Good government, finally, can exist and persist only as it is rooted in self-government by the thousands and millions of individual citizens.

A good society must rest on good individuals, and the most successful rule for individual good conduct and self-realization is found in the two great commandments to love God and to love our fellow man as we love ourselves.

It is tragic that through all the centuries since these truths have been available to us mankind has tried almost everything else and failed. Latest among those failures is the United Nations which lacked the courage to begin with God. It is only as we adapt ourselves to the eternal laws that govern life, that we can achieve fulfillment of life, and it is because the principles of Christianity applied actually accomplish the highest good of individual and society, that we must recognize Christianity as practical. That is the lesson of history.

This Week in WASHINGTON

POLITICS IS AT THE BOILING POINT

You can take your pick of points of view and go in most any direction. More and more Republicans are breaking away from the Taft leadership on the methods of combatting inflation. Flanders of Vermont, Aiken of Vermont, Revercomb of West Virginia, Morse of Oregon, Langer of North Dakota, Baldwin of Connecticut, Ives of New York, Lodge of Massachusetts and Watkins of Utah are now openly demanding that something be done about either rationing or control of certain prices or both.

And of course debate on the Marshall plan, which got under way in both the house and senate for relations committees the first week of the session, still goes on.

SENATOR JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY, Democrat of Wyoming, and Ralph Flanders, Republican of Vermont, are making a fight for responsibility of congress to heed the Full Employment Act of 1946 and pay some attention to the joint committee on the economic report created under this law. The committee, composed of seven members of the senate and a like number from the house, was created to consider the semi-annual economic reports of the President, also called for under the law. The President made an economic report on the outlooks in the nation in January last year and a similar report in July. He is making another this January 1948. To date, however, the joint committee has paid little attention to these reports although they are bound under the law to make recommendations to the congress within 15 days after receiving the President's report. If he had been paid to the President's recommendations, these senators say, a year ago last January or even last July, perhaps, something would have been done to head off the present inflationary cost of living.

"Insofar as congress is concerned, compliance with the employment act during its first year of operation was largely lacking," Senator Flanders said. He declared that the President's mid-year economic report in July "received only cursory attention."

SENATOR FLANDERS URGES frequent meetings of the commission.

mittee, a meeting of the committee with the council of economic advisors to the President, also created by the act, and a closer working relationship between the staffs of the two bodies.

Senator O'Mahoney declared that instead of the congress assuming its own responsibility and working out its own anti-inflation bill on the basis of the President's two economic reports, the anti-inflation bill it did pass turned over the initiative, "and vested in the managers of private industry... the economic welfare of the American people. The issue has been presented whether the economic welfare of all shall be safeguarded by the government or whether the managers of private corporate industry now enjoying from current high prices the greatest profits ever recorded shall be in a position to prepare their own plans for the distribution of the commodities the people need and present them to the President on a take-it-or-leave-it basis," Senator O'Mahoney said.

"BECAUSE WE HAVE SHIRKED our responsibility," he continued, "the government, under this bill (the Taft bill), may control the prices to be paid for products by the people of foreign countries but it has no power to hold down prices for ourselves."

It will be remembered that the Full Employment Act of 1946 was passed in an effort "to promote maximum production and employment" and it established a statutory mechanism for the formulation of economic policies. At least these two senators declare congress has refused or failed to use the statutory mechanism established for the very purpose of preventing inflation and depressions.

LET NO ONE FORGET that this is an election year. While the scores of probes thus far have not turned up any political pay dirt for use in the election and have affected few save Andrew May of Kentucky, Gen. Benny Meyers and possibly Ed Paulley, the probes will go on. Hoping to uncover something which may be used in the campaign, probes are to continue on war profiteering, sale of surplus property, dealings of the HPC, bookkeeping of the general accounting office and the TVA, the veterans administration and operations of the civil service commission.

VETERANS QUESTION BOX

Ed. Note: This newspaper has arranged with the Washington Bureau of National Weekly Newspaper Service, 1616 Eye St. N. W., Washington 6, D. C., to answer questions pertaining to servicemen and veterans. These questions will be answered in this column if addressed as above. No replies can be made by mail, but this paper will print answers to all questions received.

Q. I am an officer in the United States army air corps reserve and I would like to know where to write to apply for active duty with the army air force.—C. C. Y., Omaha, Nebraska.

A. Write to the Air Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Pentagon Bldg., Washington 25, D. C. Give all pertinent facts and a copy of your service certificate.

Q. When I was discharged from the army as a buck private I was given a disability pension amounting to approximately $45 a month. About two months ago, however, I was given an examination and the pension was cut almost in half. What I want to know is why are some men called in for examination as I was and their pensions cut and others never called for reexamination. Looks like there's something funny here somewhere.—J. J. J., Greeley, Colorado.

A. There probably is something funny. So funny that congress is making an investigation of thousands of cases of disability payments to officers who have been discharged from the service. Under the law, enlisted men are called back periodically for review of their disability payments. In the case of officers, however, there is no such review and their disability payments may go on for life although they may be entirely recovered from any disability. A bill has been introduced in congress which would require annual examination of former officers with a review of their disability pensions putting them on the same basis as enlisted men.

Q. How much money does a veteran with an honorable discharge have to put up to get an operation in one of the veterans hospitals, and how do you go about getting in one of these hospitals? It seems, from what I can find out, that a fellow will be months getting in. Can you suggest anything since my doctor tells me I ought to have an operation immediately.—Veteran, Plainfield, New Jersey.

A. A veteran, if entitled to enter a VA hospital either for treatment or an operation does not put up any money since all charges are borne by the government. Your doctor, your local American Legion post, or the Red Cross can advise you as to details. If none are available, contact your nearest VA hospital or veterans administration office and explain your situation and needs. I am sure that if yours is an emergency case you will have no trouble arranging for an operation and medical treatment.

Q. My husband has lost his terminal leave bond. We have looked everywhere and were depending on the money but it has been either lost or stolen. Is there anything we can do about it or do we lose the money?—Mrs. E. L. H., Sacramento, California.

A. Write to Marvin W. Wesley, chief of the division of loans and currency, Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C., and give all information concerning lost bond.

Jackson-Silver Post and Unit—December Activities in Review

The month of December known to all Legion and Auxiliary members as Rehabilitation Month began with a regular meeting December 4, when the Post voted to sponsor the local Boy Scout Troop. The membership contest was in full swing which proved to be a big success. A layette was completed for a needy family and a large box of gifts was sent to the Christmas Gift Shop at Togus. Chocolate bars were also sent to the Veterans Facility and money to Opportunity Farm. The Legionnaires made a desperate and successful effort to complete the new floor and prepare it for the 1948 public dances. The birth of a new baby girl was announced and the proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lowe, both members.

December 10, Commander and President, Mr. and Mrs. John Howe and Fannie Cummings spent the day in Togus assisting in the Christmas Gift Shop at the General Hospital. These ladies were given Ward 6 "to help all bed patients with their holiday gift problems." This proved very heart warming. A seriously ill boy wished for a pen and pencil set for his wife, which was not available at the gift shop. The Jackson-Silver Post members were extremely happy to purchase a set and forward it to the worthy veteran. Several patients were visited including Comrade Perry Judkins formerly of Bethel and Upton. This year the gifts were plentiful, practical and of good quality. Mrs. Millwee Pollard, State Chairman, should be highly commended for her untiring and faithful service to the approximately 250 patients in General and over 600 in N. P.

December 13, the Second District Council met in Lewiston with two members representing the local Unit, Department Music Chairman, Cella Lamb and Past State President Fannie Cummings. Ten of the twenty-five Units in the district joined in the district Christmas tree in Togus.

December 18, the Post and Unit had their Christmas Tree in connection with a Rehabilitation enjoyed as was the home-made answered roll call. Florence Leighton, Lisbon Falls, was installed Legion Historian and appointed Chairman of the Calendar Committee for the New Year, succeeding Mrs. Cella Lamb. Winifred Gahagan and Frances Bennett, Membership Chairmen of Androscoggin and Oxford Counties, respectively, reported on the present standing. Department President Madelyn Howell of Belgrade, guest speaker, reported on Christmas parties to be held for the fire disaster children. Cake and coffee was served by the hostess Unit.

December 18, in the Elks Hall in Rumford, joint meetings of the men's and ladies' County Council groups were held. Cella Lamb, Department Music Chairman was the speaker for the ladies, and she stressed singing at every meeting and asked the Units to enter musical units in the contests at the State Convention in Bangor next June. Janice Starbird was elected County Treasurer. Selma Chapman was appointed Rehabilitation Chairman and Fannie Cummings to Publicity. The hostess Unit was asked to furnish the mystery package each month. A goodly number of ties and socks were brought to be sent to Togus.

State Commander Alex La Fleur, veteran of both world wars, was the Legion speaker and he reported on the Legion's finances, the service department and the Fire Victims Christmas Dinner Project. Pictures were taken and refreshments of coffee, crackers and cheese enjoyed. Members attending were: Commander and Mrs. John Howe, County Commander and Mrs. Harold Marshall, Adjutant Lester Hathaway, Comrade and Mrs. Alanson Cummings and Mrs. Cella Lamb.

December 18, the Post and Unit had their Christmas Tree in connection with a Rehabilitation enjoyed as was the home-made

NOTHING SLOW HERE . . . Herbert R. Read, 19, Seekonk, Mass., has proven that Holstein-Friesian are not clumsy, slow-witted or dense. His twin Holstein oxen shake hands, play dead and take pictures in teetering like a couple of school children. Herbert not only broke the oxen to yoke but taught them the rest of the repertoire, working entirely from vocal commands.

Meeting, with the State Rehabilitation Chairman Millwee Pollard of Togus and Fred Rowell, Director of Veterans Affairs in Augusta, as guest speakers. Comrade Rowell explained the immediate state aid available to veterans under the World War Assistance Program. He stated that "There is no reason why a veteran entering a hospital and leaving needy dependents back home should have to call on his town or any other agency while he is incapacitated." His department is spending nearly $10,000 currently on World War I and II Assistance cases. Representative for this area is Roland Tardiff, 14 Lisbon St., Lewiston.

Mrs. Pollard gave an outline of her many duties in Togus and cited several interesting cases. She gives out 850 packages of cigarettes and 200 game prizes weekly. Her gift from the Unit was an Initial Maine Gem pin. The Christmas tree was fudge and popcorn, and the new orchestra played until midnight. December 23, found threemembers in Brownfield giving out Christmas dinners to the fire victims. One hundred fifty-five (155) boxes weighing 65 lbs. each, as many fresh loaves of bread and each accompanied by a $15.00 check were placed in this area alone. An extra dinner was brought and given to a needy family in Bryant Pond, by the County Commander, Harold Marshall. Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Cummings delivered one late that evening in Norway.

This December report of the Jackson-Silver Post and Unit is only a sample of what the 102 Units and 162 Posts in the State of Maine are doing month after month. It is truly a service organization "associated together for God and Country."

One Fire Heats Three Rooms

FORCED, by grim necessity, to find new ways to make good the 4½ million tons in three homes destroyed or damaged by bombs and V-weapons during the war, Britain has come up with many new ideas in housing. This fireplace was one of the developments demonstrated at a recent building exhibition in London. It is installed in the living room and its heat is transferred to two upper rooms by ducts under the floor (as pictured) and through the walls. The upper rooms are as warm and cozy as the room in which the fire is burning. A closure lid, lifted in the morning, keeps the fire burning low at night. Britain was making rapid strides with a huge housing programme, but has recently had to transfer some efforts and materials to exports for the food they bring.

This marks a 26.6 percent increase over 1946 figures, when 37,333 persons, including 13,443 veterans, were placed. The 1947 increase in veterans was slightly more than 10 percent.

During 1947 jobs were developed for 1,571 handicapped persons, including 794 veterans, according to Fortier.

At the close of business 31, Maine's 16 unemployment compensation commissions listed 17,163 men and women seeking jobs. Of this figure 43.4 percent were veterans representing an unemployment rate of 10.1 percent, well below the national average of 14.4 percent.

In those same offices orders for 3,008 workers, skilled, unskilled and semi-skilled, as the year unfolded there were orders for 3,008 workers for small operations scattered out Maine.

Six-Inch Sermon
REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Our Relationship to God.
Lesson for January 18: Romans 8:12-17; 31-39.
Memory Selection: Romans 8:16.

Paul offers release from the slavery of the flesh and adoption into the redeemed family of God. This statement of course depends upon the fact of man's estrangement from God in sin and his need of being restored to God's favor.

Some seem to question the possibility of a man's knowing that he is redeemed and accepted of God. Does a man know that he loves his mother? If so, he can know that he loves God. The apostle writes of the "fruit of adoption" in the which, through the witness of the Spirit, a man can know that he is a child of God and a joint-heir with Christ.

Further, his relationship to God is that of a dependent child who is assured of God's love and protection. Confidence can no more prick his heart and none can lay any charge against him. The Father who spared not His own Son for a man will freely give him all good things.

And the redeemed children of God are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. For if we continue in our faith, nothing can separate us from the heavenly Father. Somewhere in his childhood the writer read an illustrated story of a lost child. They guided his wayward feet, when night came on they formed a tent above him while the tired child slept, and when the morning came they directed his feet in the homeward way. As trusting children we may every day through the love of God make progress in our uniform progress towards the celestial city, where we shall see the Father face to face.
